Additional Corrections

Page 19, No. 23: The family of Hugh³ (who d. 1780 in the Revolution) was mistakenly combined with that of his son Hugh⁴. Jeremiah belongs to neither family.

The children of Hugh³ and Elizabeth Butts:

 Marcy, b. 24 April 1743

 John

 Thomas

 Hugh

 Gideon, b. 25 Dec. 1777

 Mercy, m. John Katin

After Hugh³ died, Elizabeth married again and placed the children in different homes, and none ever saw another again.

Gideon first lived near Buffalo, New York, then in 1818 he went to Perry, Lake County, Ohio, then in 1844 to Brighton, Lake County, and in 1844 to Lorain County.

Source: Helen McClatlin Williams, great-granddaughter of Gideon, to the mother of Elton Lorain Mosher, descendant of Naaman, whose ancestry is not known, though he is not related to Hugh and Rebecca.

Hugh fits perfectly for the one who settled in Maine. (given so long a time to claim inheritance).

*This Hugh fits perfectly as the one who went to Rhode Island and named his first son Nicholas.
